PROPOSED PROJECT NAME:

Re-Going by Sea 2011

PROJECT DESCRIPTION / SUMMARY

The project has had a 6 month time development. During its course it has dealt with 6 main topics, linked to each other by the main idea to 'Go By sea'. Starting from Great navigators, their routes, the curiosities extracted from logbooks or travel books, the students looked into other sea related topics such as, places, iconology, food, myths, proverbs, songs and legends. Each month the focus was on a single topic, with personal feedback and social communication. During the project and at its end the teachers have discussed about didactic implications.

RATIONALE FOR THE PROJECT:

The Sea, far from being considered a separation element, has always been a very fast way to put in communication people, countries and continents.

Navigators of every time and every place have always had this goal in mind: that of widening the knowledge of humans. Today our children, our students, the new navigators of this modern era, surf the seas of a virtual world, the web, sharing knowledge, experiences, languages, thoughts, cultures, habits, in this way developing a sense of mutual understanding and respect for what – so far – appeared to be - the 'different'. Diversities have been smothered by the waves of the seas we have explored.

EXPECTED CONTRIBUTION FROM ASIAN SCHOOLS/STUDENTS:

Students have first published their profiles;
Students have then published their works respecting deadlines
Students have Provided feedback to European students
Teachers have monitored their students' work
